This viewpoint is located approximately 5km southeast of Lochluichart.

Travelling from Inverness on the A835 towards Ullapool, you will approach Contin. Pass through Contin still on the A835 and cross the bridge over the river. You will then approach a right hand bend. Just on this bend there is a small turning off left signposted to Loch Achilty. Turn left here.

Continue on this minor road that will take you around the north edge of Loch Achilty and eventually on towards the Luichart hydro power station. Just after the power station the road splits. Head up to the right keeping the electrical substation and pylon on your left. Continue on for approximately 500 metres after which you will see a small pull-off on the left just before another pylon and some properties located on the right. Park here.

From this point on it is strongly recommended that the user sources designated mapping for this walk. There are several websites detailing walks to the summit of Sgurr Marcasaidh.

The camera location is at the summit next to the trig point.
